About This Christmas Class ...

I think it is probably the occasion that even people who never, ever bake might consider doing so at Christmas. I must emphasize that, opening your front door to the inviting aroma of cake baking in the oven is one of the most pleasant home-coming holiday imaginable. The aroma of vanilla pods, taste of salted butter and caramel and feel of silky flour used in the creation of desserts is deeply satisfying. These are the most requested recipes that I have made and presented to guests and then comes “can you please share this recipe” So here are fantastic Christmas desserts you can share with you family and friends during the holidays...one bite will leave you just as speechless.
